

Universal Life Tools

Well-known naturopath and herbalist, Simone Matthews recently closed her long-running natural therapies practice in Noosa to fully realise her dream, the Universal Life Tools website and Universal Life Tools Metaphysical School of Healing, where she has been running accredited workshops since 2000.

“Universal Life Tools advocates equality and diversity and fosters the expansion of who we are at an individual soul level and hence the collective consciousness,” Simone explains.

Simone now trains people in Crystal Light Healing and Essence of Angels, travelling around Australia and overseas. Shortly, through her new website, she will be offering on-line self-development e-courses.

“The aim of the site is to empower people to consciously create the life they truly desire - everything from physical health, financial freedom, fulfilling relationships and spiritual connection,” Simone says. The website has a self-education section featuring articles on body, mind and spirit. There is a news and reviews section, a practitioners' directory, links to other great websites, online courses and a shop with CDs, DVDs, crystals, essences and more.
